

Rotahr — Email Marketing Plan

Strategy + Full Email Sequence

Executive Summary

Rotahr solves a real, daily pain for hospitality operators: rota chaos, no-shows, messy bookings, and scattered staff communication. The email strategy targets decision-makers — owners, GMs, and HR managers — who are too busy for fluff. Every email is benefit-led, short, and ends with a single action: start the free trial at rotahr.vercel.app.

The sequence is 6 emails over 21 days. Each email targets a different pain point so the sequence works across all five hospitality segments without needing separate tracks.

Strategy

1. Audience Segments

Segment	Title	Primary Pain	Angle
A	Restaurant / Bar Owner	Time wasted on rotas & last-minute cover	Save hours every week
B	Hotel Manager	Multi-department scheduling, compliance	Control across departments
C	Café Owner	Small team, high turnover, no budget for waste	Affordable, simple, fast
D	Multi-venue Operator	Inconsistent staffing, no visibility across sites	One dashboard, every venue
E	HR Manager (hospitality)	Staff records, certs, costs, GDPR	Compliance + cost visibility

All segments share the same core sequence. Subject lines can be A/B tested by segment if you have the data to split.

2. Sequence Overview

#	Email	Timing	Goal
1	The Problem Email	Day 0 (signup / cold outreach)	Hook — identify the pain
2	The Product Email	Day 3	Show how Rotahr fixes it
3	The Social Proof Email	Day 7	Build trust with demo scenario
4	The Feature Spotlight	Day 10	Highlight one killer feature
5	The Objection Killer	Day 14	Handle cost / effort hesitation
6	The Urgency Email	Day 21	Push to trial before they go cold

3. Timing & Sending Notes

- Best days: Tuesday–Thursday, 7–9am or 1–2pm (owners check email early, before service)
 - Avoid: Monday (still recovering from weekend), Friday afternoon (in the weeds)
 - Sequence trigger: Cold list → send Email 1 on contact creation. If they click any link, accelerate to Email 3 on Day 5 (skip Email 2, they're already warm).
 - Stop condition: Anyone who starts a free trial exits the sequence immediately. Tag them as `trial` and move to onboarding track.

4. Channel Notes

- Primary: Email (Resend or Mailchimp — Resend already in stack)
 - Retargeting layer: Run LinkedIn ads to the same list targeting Hospitality Managers + Business Owners in Ireland. Match by email or job title.
 - Referral: Add a referral mention in Email 6 — "know another venue? Pass this on."
 - Landing page for cold traffic: <https://rotahr.vercel.app> (landing page handles the sell; email just drives the click)

5. Goals

Metric	Target
Open rate	40%+ (hospitality B2B, good list hygiene)
Click-to-trial	8–12% of openers
Trial-to-paid	25–35% (target with onboarding emails, separate track)
Unsubscribe rate	<1% per email

The Email Sequence

Email 1 — The Problem Email

Send: Day 0

Goal: Open the loop. Make them feel seen.

Subject line: You built a rota. Half your staff didn't show up.

Preview text: Sound familiar? There's a better way.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

Sunday night. You've spent two hours building next week's rota on a spreadsheet. You've juggled holidays, part-timers, and a bar manager who "might" be available Thursday.

By Tuesday, three people have messaged you to swap shifts. One didn't show. You found out from the floor manager.

This is the part of running a venue nobody talks about — the invisible hours that disappear into scheduling, chasing, and fixing.

It doesn't have to work this way.

Rotahr was built for hospitality — restaurants, bars, hotels, cafés. It handles your rota, bookings, staff communications, and time-off requests in one place, on any device.

No spreadsheets. No WhatsApp chaos. No surprises.

The first month is free. No credit card needed to start.

Email 2 — The Product Email

Send: Day 3

Goal: Show the product concretely. Make them visualise using it.

Subject line: What Rotahr actually does (in plain English)

Preview text: Rota, bookings, staff messaging — one tab.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

Quick one — here's what Rotahr gives you, no marketing speak:

Rota

Drag-and-drop scheduling. Staff see their shifts the moment you publish. They can request swaps; you approve with one click.

Bookings

Table reservations, party bookings, custom capacity rules. AI assistant handles enquiries so you're not answering the same questions at 11pm.

Staff management

Time-off requests, availability, roles, and costs — all visible to managers and admins. HR managers get compliance tracking and expense reports.

Communications

Message your whole team, a department, or one person. They get push notifications on their phone. No more "I didn't see the WhatsApp."

It runs on every device. Your staff use the app. You get the full dashboard on desktop.

Three plans — Starter (€79/mo, up to 10 staff), Pro (€149/mo, up to 30 staff), Enterprise (€249+/mo, unlimited, multi-venue). Irish VAT included.

Email 3 — The Social Proof Email

Send: Day 7

Goal: Make it real. A concrete scenario that mirrors their world.

Subject line: Friday night. Full house. Short-staffed. Here's how one venue handled it.

Preview text: It's not luck — it's a system.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

Picture this:

It's 5pm on a Friday. Your busiest bartender just texted — sick. You've got a full house booked at 7.

Before Rotahr: you're on the phone, scrolling contacts, calling in favours, hoping someone's free. Half an hour gone. You're stressed before service even starts.

With Rotahr:

- You see your available staff in real time
- You send a shift offer to three people with one tap
- The first one to accept gets it — confirmed, shift added to their calendar
- You get back to the pre-service briefing

That's not a hypothetical. That's what the system is built for.

The Anchor & Tap demo venue has a full working environment you can explore right now — real shifts, real bookings, real staff comms. No data, no commitment.

Email 4 — The Feature Spotlight

Send: Day 10

Goal: Surface one high-value, under-obvious feature. Drive urgency around a specific benefit.

Subject line: Your rota costs you more than you think

Preview text: Rotahr shows you the exact labour cost before you publish.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

One thing most venue owners don't know until it's too late: your rota is a financial decision, not just a logistics one.

When you schedule five people on a quiet Tuesday and three on a slammed Saturday, that's not just an operational problem — it's margin leaking out the door.

Rotahr shows you the labour cost of every shift, in real time, before you publish the rota.

You see:

- Total weekly wage bill by department
- Cost per shift, per staff member
- Monthly and weekly P&L trends
- Per-employee costs across the period

This is what finance directors have in corporate restaurants. Now it's on your dashboard.

Combine it with the expense tracker (receipt upload → AI auto-reads the amount and category → you approve) and you've got a clear picture of what your venue actually costs to run.

No setup required. The demo is pre-loaded with real data.

Email 5 — The Objection Killer

Send: Day 14

Goal: Address the two biggest reasons people don't start: cost and "my team won't use it."

Subject line: "My staff won't adopt another app."

Preview text: We've heard this one. Here's what actually happens.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

The two objections we hear most:

1. "It's too expensive."

Let's be honest about what the spreadsheet costs you.

Two hours a week building the rota = 100+ hours a year. At your own rate, that's several thousand euro in time. Add one no-show penalty, one scheduling mistake that tanks a Friday night, one compliance fine — the math changes fast.

Rotahr Starter is €79/month. That's less than one hour of your time per week.

2. "My staff won't use another app."

They already use their phones for everything. Rotahr's staff app shows them their shifts, lets them request time off, and sends push notifications for changes. The average new staff member is set up in under three minutes.

We've kept it simple on purpose. If your 19-year-old part-time bartender can't figure it out in five minutes, we've failed. (They can.)

The first month is free. Run your real rota on it. If it doesn't make your week easier, cancel — no questions, no charges.

Email 6 — The Urgency Email

Send: Day 21

Goal: Final push. Create a reason to act now rather than later.

Subject line: Last one from us (and a reason to try it this week)

Preview text: Summer is the worst time to be figuring out scheduling on the fly.

Body:

Hey [First Name],

This is the last email in this sequence — I'll keep it short.

Summer service is already here. More bookings, more staff changes, more late-notice swaps. The venues that handle it well aren't working harder — they have better systems.

Rotahr is offering the first month completely free. No card required to sign up. You can be running your actual rota through it before the weekend.

Here's what you get from day one:

- ✓ Drag-and-drop rota with instant staff notifications
- ✓ Booking management with AI assistant
- ✓ Staff messaging and time-off requests
- ✓ Labour cost dashboard
- ✓ Expense tracker with AI receipt reading
- ✓ GDPR-compliant staff records
- ✓ Mobile app for your team

If it's not useful, you cancel and pay nothing. If it is, you've got your venue running better before August.

Either way — good luck with the summer.

Implementation Notes

Sending tool: Resend is already in the Rotahr stack — use it for transactional + marketing if volume is low (<5k contacts). Move to Loops.so or Mailchimp when list exceeds 5k.

List building: Add an email capture to the landing page footer — "Get hospitality scheduling tips" opt-in triggers the sequence. Also: LinkedIn organic (post the Email 4 labour cost angle — that one resonates with operators).

Personalisation minimum: First name + venue name if available. If not, "Hey there" > "Hey [First Name]" with a broken variable.

Tracking: UTM params on every CTA link. Suggested: `?`

`utm_source=email&utm_campaign=onboarding&utm_content=email1`

GDPR (Ireland): Ensure all contacts have given marketing consent. Unsubscribe link required in every email. Rotahr already has `/privacy` and `/terms` pages live.
